LANDSCAPE, WILDLIFE AND HERITAGE	Planted areas including shrubs, flower beds and trees, and cultivated areas	Numerous planting, with appropriate mix of plants, maintained to a very high standard; no weeds. Allotments - No evidence of derelict plots or neglected plots	Numerous planting, with appropriate mix of plants, installed and maintained to a reasonable standard; very few weeds. Allotments - Limited evidence of derelict plots, neglected plots	Appropriate range of vegetation and plants but with reasonable maintenance. Allotments - Some evidence of derelict plots, neglected plots, but is not a significant problem	Limited range of vegetation and plants but some patchy maintenance. Allotments - Highly noticeable evidence of derelict plots, neglected plots having a detrimental effect on the site	Limited range of vegetation and plants; poor maintenance with some areas clearly suffering. Allotments - Unacceptable levels of dereliction, neglected plots and vandalism
	Grassed areas	Full grass cover throughout; cleanly cut and in excellent colour and condition	Full grass cover throughout and cleanly cut; few weeds but generally in good condition	Grass cover throughout but with some thin patches or excessive growth in some areas; some bald areas and a few weeds; but generally in good condition	General grass cover but some significant thin areas and/or saturated and/or poorly maintained; cut infrequently with some clippings still in evidence	General grass cover but with some serious wear and tear and/or limited grass cover in many areas; little or no serious attempt to correct the problem
	Water bodies	Clean, clear water; no floating or sub-surface debris; all outlets and inlets free from obstructions; marginal and other vegetation as appropriate and well-maintained; no evidence of erosion or wear to banks/edges	Clean, clear water; no floating or sub-surface debris; all outlets and inlets free from obstructions; marginal and other vegetation patchy or overgrown and not well-maintained; some evidence of erosion or wear to banks/edges	Clean, clear water; some floating or sub-surface debris; all outlets and inlets free from obstructions; marginal and other vegetation in poor condition or very overgrown and not well-maintained; some evidence of erosion or wear to banks/edges	Discoloured/slightly murky water; floating or sub-surface debris; some outlets and inlets obstructed; marginal and other vegetation either in very poor condition or very overgrown and taking over a large proportion of the water area; serious erosion or wear to banks/edges	No water bodies where they could add value to a site or a water body in very poor and neglected condition
	Biodiversity	Biodiversity is a central consideration in site design and maintenance. Biodiversity habitats are clearly managed in a way appropriate to the habitat type in order to encourage biodiversity. Invasive or undesirable species are absent or well-controlled. Information is available to visitors on the biodiversity interest of the site.	Areas to promote biodiversity are evident. There is some management appropriate to the habitat type is carried, but this may be lacking or not entirely effective. There may be some undesirable or invasive species or other signs that biodiversity management could be improved.	There is some attempt to incorporate biodiversity and/or natural habitats, but the site is lacking in the size of the biodiversity element or in the appropriateness/effectiveness of management.	There is little consideration of biodiversity on the site. The element of biodiversity areas on the site may be small. Management of the biodiversity elements may be absent or inappropriate management is taking place.	There is no consideration of biodiversity in the site design or maintenance. Any element of biodiversity habitat is small or non-existent. Biodiversity value is being reduced through current management, or through the lack of management of habitats.
