

Item 15

Ref: 19/506112/FULL

Bletchenden Farm
Bletchenden Road
Headcorn
Ashford
Kent
TN27 9JB

Update on site description

Paragraph 1.05 of the report currently reads :

Works have also now commenced on site in terms of the current submission, whereby the existing threshing barn has been stripped and is currently being supported by acro-pillars, the adjoining stables have been demolished and footing for part of the proposed extension have been laid. As such the description has been amended accordingly to refer to 'part retrospective'

This should be amended to read (changes in bold)

Works have also now commenced on site in terms of the current submission, whereby the existing threshing barn has been stripped and is currently being supported by acro-pillars, the adjoining stables have been demolished and the extensions to the barn applied for under this application have been constructed with the roofs currently being tiled. The garage has also been built. No further works appear to have taken place to the barn itself. As such the description has been amended accordingly to refer to 'part retrospective'

Recommendation remains unchanged